

Not Everyone likes to bicycle alone

So....

Start a Cycling Club/Group

The following are suggestions only you may have your own ideas about what is needed to start a cycling club/group in your own community.

- Contact other cyclists in the community to see if there is the interest in your community for a cycling club/group.
- Have a meeting to discuss possibilities, options, priorities and other formalities the club/group may be interested in.
- Continue to look for new members and the avid cyclists in the group should be encouraging more beginners to get out and start cycling, either with a group or individually.
- Find out what other bicycle groups are around. You may want to join their group if possible, rather than going through the process of creating your own club/group.
- Pick out a creative, interesting name for your group.
